

Women in Politics

Did you know women are still the minority in politics? In Utah, women comprise only 17% of the state Senate and 16% of the state House of Representatives, ranking us 45th nationally for female representation (National Conference for State Legislatures).

Join the DSU Women's Resource Program at the Women in Politics event to hear local female politicians speak on their experiences and advice for improving the presence and authority of women in American politics. Also, the speakers will participate in an open forum discussion following their presentations.
