

Holland Centennial Commons Mother's Room – General Guidelines for Use

The Holland Centennial Commons mother's room provides a private, clean, and comfortable place for faculty, staff, students, and visitors to nurse or express breast milk.

The room is equipped with a sink, a refrigerator, an electrical outlet, and a comfortable chair. Nursing mothers should provide their own pumps, attachments, and other supplies. DSU and the Library are not responsible for forgotten, lost, or stolen items.

Location

The room is located on the fourth floor of the Holland Centennial Commons in room #409.

One-time Access

For one-time use of the room, visit the Library Circulation Desk to check out the access key.

Ongoing Access

Faculty, staff, and students who wish to use the room regularly should request ID card access by emailing the following information to hcc.mothersroom@dixie.edu:

- Name
- D#
- Email address

Availability

The room is available on a first-come, first-serve basis during regularly scheduled DSU Library hours: library.dixie.edu.

Prohibited Uses:

- Diaper changing and diaper disposal.
- Activities not related to nursing or expressing breast milk, including meditating, napping, praying, and studying.

Comments or Concerns:

hcc.mothersroom@dixie.edu