What is (Wo)mentoring?

Usually distinct from peer-to-peer mentoring or having a course advisor, we encourage majoring female students to identify a female faculty or staff who can serve as role models and nurture their academic/professional success.

Note: The Women's Resource Center Committee will attempt to match you with a female faculty/staff mentor in your discipline.
